Translator's Notes

For this chapter, a basic intro to judo scoring may be helpful. Three elements are judged for each throwing technique: 1) the degree to which the opponent lands on their back, 2) the speed of execution and 3) the force with which the technique was executed.

Yuko: in English, they call this "effective / moderate advantage". This is a point scored by technically completing your technique, but the ref has judged it lacking in two of the three elements above – i.e. the opponent lands on their side. A Yuko is also awarded for pinning your opponent for over 10 seconds but under 15 seconds. Yukos cannot be converted to Waza-ari's – but if the match ends without Waza-ari's or Ippons, the fighter with the most Yukos wins.

Waza-ari: this is a point scored by completing your technique but the ref has judged it lacking in one of the three elements above – i.e. the opponent is thrown onto their back but with insufficient force to be awarded an ippon. A Waza-ari is also awarded for pinning your opponent for more than 15 seconds but under 20 seconds. A match ends if one fighter gets two Waza-ari's.

Ippon: This basically means the match is over – the throwing technique places the opponent on his back with sufficient speed and force. It is also awarded if you pin your opponent on his back with a recognized pinning technique for 20 seconds or forcing your opponent to submit with joint locks and chokehold techniques.

Dan: this is referring to the judo proficiency rankings – Yawara is officially at the lowest rank, not having taken any tests to advance up the rankings (even though she's hella strong in reality).

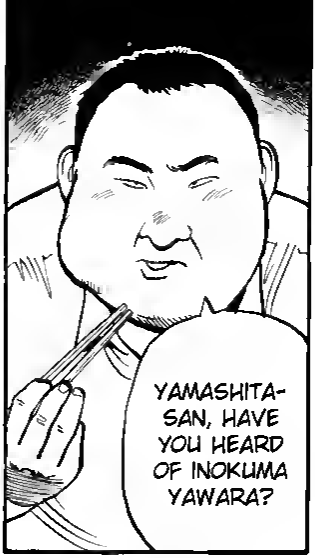
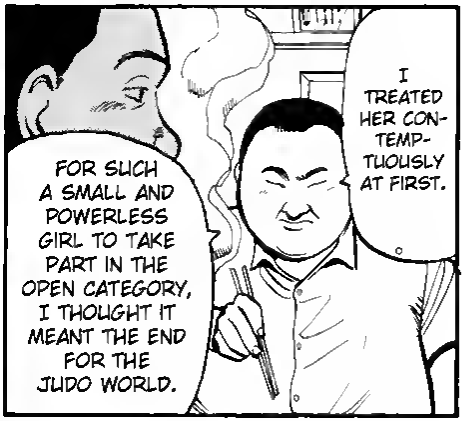
INO-KUMA!?

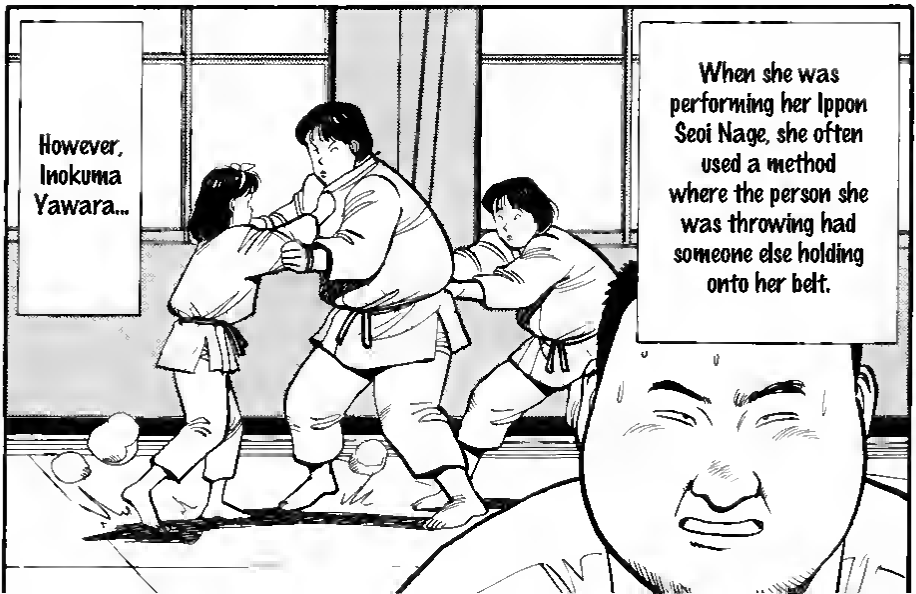


YAMASHITA-SAN, HAVE YOU HEARD OF INOKUMA YAWARA?

HER TRAINING?
HOWEVER, I WAS SHOCKED WHILE WATCHING HER TRAIN AT THE TRAINING CAMP.



FOR SUCH A SMALL AND POWERLESS GIRL TO TAKE PART IN THE OPEN CATEGORY, I THOUGHT IT MEANT THE END FOR THE JUDO WORLD.
I TREATED HER CONTEMPTUOUSLY AT FIRST.



However, Inokuma Yawara...
When she was performing her Ippon Seoi Nage, she often used a method where the person she was throwing had someone else holding onto her belt.

!!!

SENT BOTH THE TARGET AND THE PERSON HOLDING HER DOWN INTO THE AIR AT THE SAME TIME!!

AND SHE THREW ALL THREE OF THEM... WITHOUT EVEN FOCUSING, SHE HAD THE POWER TO THROW ALL THREE OF THEM.
THEY ADDED YET ANOTHER PERSON.

TRANSLATION NOTE:

STARTING AROUND THIS CHAPTER, IT'S GOING TO BE HEAVY ON COMPETITIONS, SO HERE IS A SMALL BREAK DOWN OF THE POINT SYSTEM

IPPON: AWARDED FOR A COMPLETE, CLEAN THROW, AN IPPON IMMEDIATELY WINS THE GAME

WAZA-ARI: AWARDED FOR A COMPLETE, BUT NOT CLEAN THROW. TWO WAZA-ARI ARE EQUIVALENT TO AN IPPON, WHICH WINS THE GAME.

YUKO: AWARDED FOR A THROW THAT ISN'T FULLY EFFECTIVE. YOU CANNOT WIN BY YUKO UNLESS THE TIME ALLOCATED FOR THE MATCH HAS ENDED.

KOKA: AWARDED FOR AN INEFFECTIVE THROW. YOU CANNOT WIN BY KOKA UNLESS THE TIME ALLOCATED FOR THE MATCH HAS ENDED.

IF THE TIME ALLOCATED FOR THE MATCH ENDS, THE WINNER IS DECIDED BASED ON HOW MANY OF THE HIGHEST LEVEL OF THROWS WERE RECEIVED. IN OTHER WORDS, 1 WAZA-ARI WILL WIN AGAINST ANY NUMBER OF YUKO OR KOKA, AND 1 YUKO WILL WIN AGAINST ANY NUMBER OF KOKA. A PERSON WITH SAY, NO WAZA-ARI AND 1 YUKO WILL STILL WIN AGAINST A PERSON WITH NO WAZA-ARI, NO YUKO AND 15 KOKA.
